Normalcy for Children and Youth in Foster Care

Implementing the Reasonable and Prudent Parent Standard in Missouri
AGENDA

- Federal & State Laws
- Reasonable & Prudent Parenting Standards
  - What It Covers
  - Definitions
  - Brain Development
  - Non-Negotiables
  - RPPS and Residential
  - Youth Grievance Process
  - References
Learning Objectives

Identify the federal and state laws and Child Welfare policy reference supporting implementation of the RPPS

Understand the goals of RPPS

Learn the basics of how the adolescent brain develops

Learn the grievance process for youth in foster care
Reasonable and Prudent Parent Standard

Federal Law requires the designated state authority or authorities to:

1. develop a reasonable and prudent parent standard for the child's participation in age or developmentally appropriate extracurricular, enrichment, cultural, and social activities; and

2. apply this standard to any foster family home or child care institution receiving funds under title IV part E.
“Reasonable and Prudent Parent Standard”
the standard characterized by careful and sensible parental decisions that maintain the health, safety, and best interests of a child while at the same time encouraging the emotional and developmental growth of the child, that a caregiver shall use when determining whether to allow a child in foster care under the responsibility of the State to participate in extracurricular, enrichment, cultural, and social activities.
Federal and State Laws

Preventing Sex Trafficking and Strengthening Families Act (HB 4980 – 2014)

Missouri House Bill 1877 (2016)
http://house.mo.gov/billtracking/bills161/billpdf/truly/HB1877T.PDF
State Statute 210.660
http://www.moga.mo.gov/LawsEnacted/2016/2100000660NHB18771T.HTML

But Why? – Federal law was created to ensure children in foster care receive as close to a normal experience in their lives as possible. Engaging in normal activities without interference from agencies promotes this ideal.
“Foster parents should have the dominant say in our social lives instead of our team that doesn’t know us on a personal level. In my foster home they allowed me to keep in contact with my grandmother and friends. They also let me stay in the sports I was playing. I don’t want to always get everything approved by a judge, such as vacations and hair dye.”

“They (foster parents) let my friends come over and they let me go with my friends. And they let me dress how I want and express myself.”

“My mother did not show a lot of interest in attending my school events so it meant a lot to me when my foster parents showed up to my open house and debate banquet. Even though these are small things, it shows that you care. Also, it adds a sense of normalcy because a “normal” child would have parents attend these school functions.”
The Goal: Normalcy

- Extracurricular
- Social
- Cultural
- Other enrichment activities

- Defined: The age or developmentally appropriate activities

See Foster Youth discussing this topic: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=jnrlv2vLzEE
Why normalcy?

Transitioning to adulthood

- Has it ever been easy?
- Prolonged period of transition today
- Very difficult labor market for young people
- Changing definitions and norms
- New understanding of brain development
- https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6zVS8HiPUng
Brain Development – The Basics

Judgment last to develop

The area of the brain that controls “executive functions” — including weighing long-term consequences and controlling impulses — is among the last to fully mature. Brain development from childhood to adulthood:

5-year-old brain  Preteen brain  Teen brain  20-year-old brain

Dorsal lateral prefrontal cortex (“executive functions”)

Front

Top view

Back

Red/yellow: Parts of brain less fully mature

Blue/purple: Parts of brain more fully mature

Sources: National Institute of Mental Health; Paul Thompson, Ph.D., UCLA Laboratory of Neuro Imaging

Thomas McKay | The Denver Post
The Developing Brain and Normalcy

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Developmental Stage</th>
<th>Traits</th>
<th>Key Decisions</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Young Child</td>
<td>brain connections</td>
<td>exploring a variety of experiences</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>rapid brain growth</td>
<td>sound (e.g. language)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>gaining motor skills</td>
<td>building trust</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>gaining language</td>
<td>expand the child's world</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Preteen</td>
<td>social connections</td>
<td>relationship building</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>physical changes</td>
<td>staying the night with friends</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>attending social events</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>gaining independence</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>haircuts/fashion</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Due to trauma and other developmental issues, a child’s chronological age is not always an indicator of their developmental stage – discuss this with your caseworker, family members or other supports, or other professionals involved with the child or youth.
The Developing Brain and Normalcy

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Developmental Stage</th>
<th>Traits</th>
<th>Key Decisions</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Teen</td>
<td>finding sense of self</td>
<td>attending social events</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>peer connections</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Post Teen</td>
<td>brain still maturing</td>
<td>social supports</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>“sense of self” solidifying</td>
<td>giving choices regarding activities</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>societal independence</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Due to trauma and other developmental issues, a child’s chronological age is not always an indicator of their developmental stage – discuss this with your caseworker, family members or other supports, or other professionals involved with the child or youth.
In order to fully develop, the brain needs ...

- Interaction
- Touch
- Stable Relationships
- Safe, Healthy Environments
- Self Esteem
- Quality Care
- Play
- Communication
- Music
- Reading
Day to Day and routine/typical caregiver decisions
Extracurricular Clubs
Sports
Youth group activities
Parties and sleep-overs
Outings with peers (including dating if appropriate)
Driver’s Education
Vacations with the designate parent’s family or other families
School or camp field trips
Summer and school break camps
Boating
Hunting
Recreational vehicle use
Rock climbing
Routine grooming or temporary changes of appearance

Permission to participate in age and developmentally appropriate school, extracurricular, sports, social/cultural enrichment, field trips and similar activities
Respite versus Babysitting

Respite is an approved and contracted service paid by the state Policy regarding respite is located in Section 4 Chapter 17

Babysitting is when a parent arranges for a responsible individual to supervise their children while they are away from the home

Reasonable and Prudent Parenting decisions include selecting a responsible individual to watch the children while the parents are away from the home

A babysitter is not required to complete respite training or be approved/contracted as a respite provider

The resource parent is responsible for paying a babysitter for the services the babysitter provides
When making decisions regarding age- or developmentally-appropriate activities, the designated parent shall take into consideration:

1. The child’s age, maturity and developmental level;
2. The overall health and safety of the child;
3. Potential risk factors and appropriateness of the activity;
4. The best interests of the child;
5. Promoting, where safe and as appropriate, normal childhood experiences;
When making decisions regarding age- or developmentally-appropriate activities, the designated parent shall take into consideration:

6. The current status of the case plan, including impending reunification;
7. The health and safety of the placement provider(s) and their family;
8. The engagement level of the parent;
9. The interests and desires of the child; and
10. Other relevant factors based on the designated parent’s knowledge of the child.
Residential Facilities and Group Homes

- Residential Facilities and Group homes must have at least one RPP designee but it is recommended that at least two are designated to ensure that decisions are not delayed due to the RPP’s absence.
- This designee may be an administrative person assigned by the facility.
- Facilities will keep updated information on who is assigned as their RPP to ensure that youth and professionals can quickly find their RPP. Decisions shall not be delayed due to administrative reasons.
These are things that must still be discussed with the child’s parent, FST and in some cases may require approval from the FST or court:

- Changes contrary to a child or family-specific order of the court;
- Non-routine and non-emergency medical decisions;
- Returning the child to the parent(s) or guardian(s) without court approval;
- Changing the child’s school;
These are things that must still be discussed with the child’s parent, FST and in some cases may require approval from the FST or court:

- Changing the child’s religion;
- International travel
- Permanent change(s) to child’s appearance including, but not limited to, tattoos, piercings, cosmetic surgery, or body modifications;
- Decisions contrary to the current case plan and permanency goal.
Youth are encouraged to speak directly with their case manager and Family Support Team if a conflict arises.

Youth are able to speak directly with their Guardian Ad Litem.

Youth may choose to use the formal Children’s Division Grievance Process: http://dss.mo.gov/cd/info/cwmanual/section8/ch1/sec8ch1sub1.htm
Paradigm Shift # 1: Ensuring safety must remain a priority; however, it must be considered in an age- and developmentally-appropriate context and in a way that does not create barriers to other aspects of wellbeing.

Paradigm Shift # 2: Caregivers will be empowered to make reasonable and prudent parenting decisions rather than navigating through multiple levels of permission, authorizations to do the things that most parents routinely allow their children to do.
MYTH: I can’t go to church camp (or any other camp) because it would be impossible to complete background checks for every single person I will come in contact with.

FACT: Background checks are no longer required for camp, sleep overs, proms, etc. Youth are able to go to camp if the caregiver believes it is developmentally and age appropriate.

MYTH: I can’t go to Illinois to pick apples at Eckert’s because it is crossing state lines.

FACT: Youth can go across state lines for trips, including family vacations, with only permission from their caregiver. However, caseworkers should be informed.
MYTH: You have to get permission from your bio parents before you cut your hair.

FACT: According to the guidebook for youth in out-of-home, “You should be able to express your desires regarding your hairstyle and changes you would like to make.”

MYTH: I can’t spend the night with a friend because I am in foster care.

FACT: Youth can spend the night at their friend’s house with approval of their caregiver without background checks or a home study.
MYTH: What other myths are out there, what past practices need to change?

FACT: What will we do instead?
Implementation of RPPS is required by federal law and MO state statute.

RPPS applies to all foster caregivers and all placement settings; group homes and residential facilities are not exempt.

RPPS applies to routine and typical parenting duties but there are areas of further discussion where it does not apply.

Birth parents are important; they have a say in many decisions.

RPPS supports the healthy growth and development of children and youth.

Children’s Division and partners are accountable for insuring that RPPS is implemented and that children and youth have access to age and developmentally appropriate activities.
Contact your Licensing Worker or the Case Manager for a child placed in your home.
References and more info:

- https://www.fosterclub.com/training/promoting-normalcy
This Certificate is awarded to

For successful completion of
Two hour Reasonable and Prudent Parenting Standard Training

____________________________________  ______________________
Resource Parent        Date

____________________________________  ______________________
Resource Development Worker Date