What happens once I register?

Your information is entered into the Adoption Information Registry and a Registry search is completed.

No Match?

If no match is found, you will receive a written notification.

Match?

Possible matches are sent to the court or agency that finalized adoption for confirmation of the match.

Biological-parent information will be released to the adopted adult, if the other biological parent is unknown, cannot be found, is deceased, has consented, or has registered with the Adoption Information Registry.

When an adopted adult and sibling are matched, both must consent before identifying information is released.

If there is a confirmed match, we contact matches and confirm each party's contact preferences. For example, you can elect to provide your name, email address, phone number, and/or place of birth to your matches.
